French Housing Market

LENDING IS BASED ON BORROWER SOLVENCY

A cautious origination process that implies low risk characteristics of loans

- In France, home loan granting based on the borrower's disposable income (not the value and quality of the asset). The ratio of debt service to income (DSTI) must not significantly exceed 35%.
- Average DSTI has been around 30%. Average LTV at origination was 80,7% in December 2023.
- Loans are almost always amortising, with constant repayments. More than 99% of home loans have a fixed rate until maturity. Average home loan term was 23.7 years in May 2025.
- French home loan market is largely based on guarantees provided by Crédit Logement and home loan insurance companies.
- Non-performing loans ratio for home loans is very low, at around 1%.

STRUCTURAL FUNDAMENTALS

Strong demand-side factors

- Lower rate of home ownership (61.2% of owner-occupiers in 2024) compared to EU countries (68.4%).
- Other factors support demand (divorce, moving out process, retirement planning, limited supply of rental accommodation, housing often perceived as a "safe haven" investment).
- Higher demand towards more comfortable housing (terraces, houses with gardens), due to the health crisis, and the development of work from home.

Weak supply

- Structural housing deficit in France: around 400,000 units to be built per year by 2030 according to different studies.
- Low level of building permits issued acts as a factor penalising the housing supply in the long run.
- Housing starts particularly low and insufficient to meet demand: linked to the scarcity of land, delays in obtaining permits.

A RESILIENT MARKET

The French market did not experience a bubble / excessive risk-taking, as seen in the US, the UK, Ireland or Spain between 1998 and 2007. The 2008-2009 recession put an end to the boom.

→ In France, the correction was limited, as prices were globally stable between 2008 and 2014, to be compared with a cumulative decline in prices of 32.2% in Ireland, 27.5% in Spain, -16.9% in the Netherlands and 14.3% in Italy. In the UK, prices dropped by 13.9% between end-2007 and end-2012.

In France, the market rebounded sharply between 2015 and 2021, with housing sales reaching record levels and prices accelerating, albeit moderately.

- For existing homes, sales have risen sharply since the low in 2013 (665,000), surpassing the former 2006 high (841,000) as early as 2016, and reaching a record level in 2021 (1.251 million). Prices recovered gradually between 2015 and 2019 (+2.9% p.a. on average), then accelerated (+6.8% p.a. between end 2019 and end 2021), slowing to +4.5% p.a. by end 2022.
- For new-built homes (developer segment), the sales jumped by 16.3% per year over 2014-2017, from 83,000 to 130,000, just above the 2007 peak. They remained stable until 2019 before starting to reduce. Prices rose by an average of 2.9% a year between the end of 2014 and the end of 2020, before accelerating over the following two years (+5.4% a year).

In 2020-2022, the French housing market remained buoyant despite the Covid-19 pandemic. It began to correct in 2023, with rising interest rates accelerating its necessary normalization.

- Between 2022 and 2023, rise in home loans interest rates undermined households' ability to buy property, at a time when high inflation has eroded their purchasing power, and high geopolitical uncertainties weighed on their confidence. Home loans interest rates reached 3.6% (excl. insurance) in December 2023.
- In 2023, sales of existing homes lower than the 2010s average (872,000 in 2023 vs. around 830,000 in the 2010s). Prices had fallen since end-2022 (-3.9% yoy at the end of 2023).
- 65,000 new-build homes were sold in 2023, a 36.9% drop compared to 2022. Prices were quite stable (-0.7% yoy at the end of 2023).

France: year-on-year change in house prices (%)

ECONOMIC ENVIRONMENT FACTORS

After a decline in 2024, the residential real estate market rebounded in Q1 2025

- Waving of 10Y OAT between 2.7% and 3.2% (on monthly average) since December 2023 and competition between banks led to a continuous decline in mortgage rates in 2024, reaching 3.1% in December. In May 2025, they reached 3.02%, a stabilization compared to the beginning of the year.
- Second-hand home market (around 80% and 90% of sales)
 - > In 2024, 845,000 second-hand homes were sold over one year, a 9.3% loss over one year (compared to 1.2 million in 2021). In April 2025, 892,000 units were sold, a sign of recovery in this market.
 - > Prices had adjusted on a year-on-year basis since 2023 (-3.9% yoy in Q4 2024). Bans on renting out low energy efficiency homes has led sellers of these types of goods to lower their prices. In the Q1 2025, prices of second-hand homes rose by 1% compared to previous quarter, as their real estate purchasing power continued to improve.
- Newly-built home market
 - > In addition to the drop in demand, the new-build market has been recently confronted with supply constraints: rising construction costs and inflation of technical standards and environmental requirements.
 - > In 2024, 61,300 newly-built homes were sold over one year (near its historical lowest level), a 6.7% drop over one year. In Q1 2025, over one year, 60,800 new homes were reserved.
 - > As sales remained quite stable in 2024, prices remained relatively stable (+0.4% yoy in 2024). In Q1 2025, prices rose by 1% in this segment compared to previous quarter.

What situation in the end of 2025?

- Favorable macroeconomic factors (disinflation, higher gross disposable income, sustainable low unemployment rate albeit a slight rise) have supported a recovery in existing home sales. However, upward pressure on interest rates is expected to stall the rebound in the second half of the year.
- Low levels of newly-built home sales would persist as the Pinel tax deduction scheme was not renewed for 2025.
- Prices of second-hand dwellings are set to rise gradually all along 2025, as sellers have incorporated the expectation of rising demand.

- Home finance is the starting point in retail banking for product cross-selling (death and disability insurance, property and casualty insurance, home loan guarantee, current account facilities, etc...)

LOW RISK PROFILE

Non-performing loans / Total home loans

Source: ACPR, Crédit Agricole S.A.

Non-performing loans coverage ratio

Source: ACPR, Crédit Agricole S.A.

Origination process relies on the borrower's repayment capability

- Borrower risk is analysed through revenues and credit history checks (3 pay slips, most recent tax statement, bank statements, Banque de France records)
- Analysis includes project features (proof of own equity, construction and work bills, etc.)
- Borrower repayment capability is measured with the income sufficiency test, which ensures that disposable income after all expenses exceeds a minimum amount, depending on the size and means of each household
- The new standards on origination introduced by the HCSF (the French macro-prudential authority) in 2021 have been gradually taken into account by the originators and should lead to an even lower risk profile overall
- In addition, credit risks are analysed before and after the granting of a guarantee

As a result, the risk profile is very low

- The rate of non-performing loans* remains low, at pre-2008 crisis levels
- The provisioning policy is traditionally very cautious, well above the French market (34% at end 2023)
- Final losses remain very low: 0.009% in 2024

- 130 loans

Strongly rated exposures, mainly ECA guaranteed loans (% of drawn amounts)

- 21.3% France, rated Aa3/ AA-/ AA- (BPIFRANCE ASSURANCE EXPORT)
- 17.0% UK, rated Aa3/ AA/ AA- (UKEF)
- 17.8% South Korea, rated Aa2/ AA/ AA- (K-Sure)
- Enhancement of the pool diversification by inclusion of high quality exposures such as World Bank (MIGA), Germany (EULER-HERMES), Finland (FINNVERA), Belgium (Credendo), United State (EXIM), Austria (OeKB), Denmark (EKF) and Spain (CESCE).

Recent evolution in the business impacting the cover pool:

Despite head-winds on international trade caused by geopolitical instability, the ECA business has remained active for this asset class. After a relatively slow level of new opportunities in the first quarter, activity has picked up with transactions across several sectors in the second quarter.

In the Aviation sector, despite a slight deterioration in the outlook, there is a limited demand from airlines and lessors for ECA covered financings (except for a few exceptions with specific country issues) as uncovered commercial financing remains generally abundant and private insurance provides a competitive alternative to ECA financing. Pipeline for ECA financings is therefore quite limited at the moment.

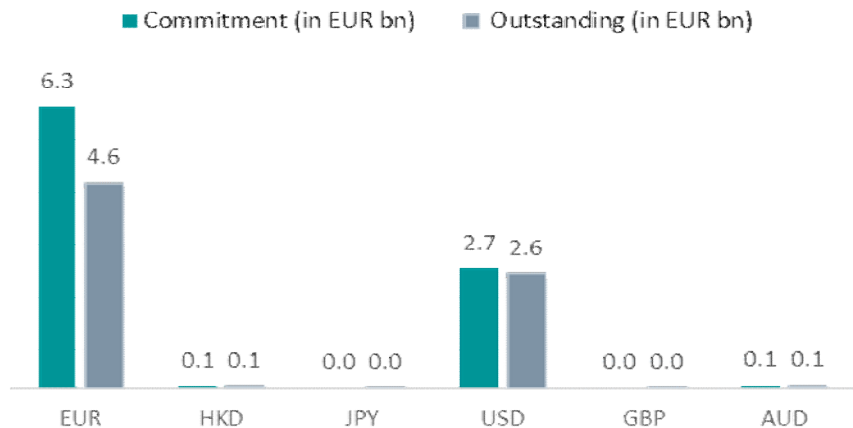

In the Rail sector, we foresee some collateral increase thanks to the French Regions financings of their rolling stock via SPLs (Sociétés Publiques Locales) and potential German Regions train concessions.
